

Reflection and Celebration Preparation Case Writer's Notes

Writing supports us in our thinking. The case writing has been an opportunity for you to be metacognitive about some of your experiences as a teacher leader or administrator engaged in science education reform.

In a few sentences or bullet points note the focus dilemma of your case.

Why did that issue or dilemma matter to you?

As you think about the development of your case (either in the preparation discussions or in the actual writing), what insights, renewed thoughts, or powerful feelings were revealed?

Think about the issue/dilemma of your case and the thinking that went into it. What new plans or goals do you have as a result?
